Understanding Indigenous People Through Media, History & Culture

How do our understanding and perceptions of Indigenous people develop—and how can we build greater awareness, understanding, and stronger relationships?

Join us for an engaging presentation exploring the ways media, historical context, and contemporary Indigenous culture influence how we see and understand Indigenous people today.

Our speaker, Emma Needham of Red Lake Nation, is a mother, water protector, and reporter. Emma co-hosts and reports on Indigenous issues for Native Roots Radio's daily show, "I'm Awake," as well as Minnesota Native News.

Through her work in journalism and her connection to her community, Emma brings a contemporary perspective to an important conversation about Indigenous people, culture, history, and the relationships between Indigenous and non-Indigenous communities.

Come learn, listen, and explore ways we can build greater awareness and understanding.

The program starts at 1:30PM at Heartwood Senior Living in Crosby, MN. It's free for members and $10.00 for non-members.
